

electroneutrality principle

The principle expresses the fact that all pure substances carry a net charge of zero.

Source:

PAC, 1994, 66, 1077 (Glossary of terms used in physical organic chemistry (IUPAC Recommendations 1994)) on page 1111