

spherulite

A polycrystalline, roughly spherical morphology consisting of lath, fibrous or lamellar crystals emanating from a common centre. Space filling is achieved by branching, bending or both, of the constituent fibres or lamellae.

Source:

Purple Book, p. 83